

July 25, 2007

To Whom It May Concern:

I have been working with Coast To Coast and it has been truly a pleasurable experience. I find their team, headed by Michael Brandt, extremely knowledgeable and innovative in the field of concrete restoration and waterproofing. Michael is a real team player and always tries to find solutions to problems, which serve the best interest of his clients.

I was especially impressed with his quick findings when time was of the essence for our restoration project's garage restoration phase. We have very limited parking spaces and closing them for any long length of time was not an option. Within one week's time, his company performed a detailed survey of the entire garage ceiling and marked out all the deteriorated areas. He researched and found a method of demolition called hydro-demolition. Subsequently, he brought in a company based in Pennsylvania who utilizes a high tech robot that shoots high pressure water to demolish concrete. The process accomplished in three days, what would have taken an additional three months. The garage project was completed in a very reasonable time period and saved us significant money.

I would highly recommend Coast To Coast's services in their field of expertise because they really stand out from their competitors, many of whom my board members or I have had previous experience with. Coast to Coast continues to be our first choice for all our upcoming projects. Finally, I know I speak for my board members when I say that the choice of Coast To Coast has repeatedly made the members and management alike look very good for the decision we made in choosing them. I am sure you will be as impressed with them as we are and continue to be.